

What fails is the kind of market, not the kind of institution

Longshots are not the problem: at 10c in a game market every venue pays close to fair. Remove repetition and fast resolution and all three misprice together.

plain_calibration.log, futures_calibration.log, book_outrights.log · CAVEAT: the books' sub-10c return rises to $0.52 under Shin de-vig, which this project's own Murphy result requires for tail claims - so 'identical to Kalshi' holds under multiplicative de-vig only.
