

The markets import information that public statistics do not contain

And they import the same information: the three venues differ from each other by $\leq 0.5 \times 10^{-3}$, and each beats the model by $\sim 13 \times 10^{-3}$ ($z \sim 7.3$).

